a) Town Staff Report: None

Old Business:

a) Overview of the Success of September's Electric Car Show: The event made the front page of the Rivereast newspaper. The show was very well received and had four times as many people attending than back in 2018. There was great advertising and signs to spread the information and awareness of the show. The members really liked the DJ and decided to have them for next year's car show event. Senator Needleman was a no show, someone from his office could have passed on the news to the task force members. The ice cream vendor sold quite a lot of ice cream during the event.

New Business: The members talked about moving the November meeting to later in the month. The first Tuesday of the month for November lands on Election Day. There was discussion about starting a program to evaluate resident's homes to suggest clean energy changes. The members discussed having John Greeno attend next month's meeting to give advice and help start up the program. There was another suggestion for a Solar Event next year. EarthLite Technologies, participated in the car show, could attend the December meeting for Solar Event planning. The members discussed looking through the Sustainable CT list of actions to gain points over during the month to discuss at the next meeting. The task force needs Town Council approval on their resolution to become members of Sustainable CT.
