Dear Planning & Zoning Official:

In April and September of this year, I contacted you regarding the installation of a renewable energy source to generate electricity by use of a water wheel on my property. Today I am contacting you as part of the final stage (3) of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC) process in applying for a small hydroelectric project exemption of 10 megawatts or less.

As discussed in my last letter, per the requirements of the FERC you have been identified as an interested party to FERC 3 stage exemption process 18 C.F.R 4.38. The first stage and second stages of the consultation: notifications, public meetings and site visits, and draft document feedback have been completed. All Input into the proposal has been received and supplemental information added to the document.

Given the size of the final document which captures the evidence of consultation to be placed within by the FERC and feedback received regarding receipt of paper mails, the final version is being provided electronically. Please find below a link and QR code to download and view the final version of the Initial Consultation Document (ICD) which will be submitted to the FERC. If you require a paper version, please contact me for specific arrangements.
